

ALBUM REVIEW

Jangling Sparrows bring new life to Americana genre

Jangling Sparrows - 140 Nickels

BY DRAMABOB
NOVEMBER 2, 2017
(Log In or Sign Up to Follow Contributor)

Album art courtesy of Doug Deutsch Publicity Services

This review was previously published on Indie Voice Blog.

Artist Name: Jangling Sparrows

Album Name: 140 Nickels

Label: Palace/Flophouse

Genre: Americana/Roots Rock

Track Listing: 1. The Party Ain't Over; 2. Look Away Twice; 3. Burnin' a Hole; 4. Take Home Your Coat; 5. Ain't Waiting for the Paint to Dry; 6. One Good Piece of Advice; 7. Great American Limbo; 8. Cheaper Down the Road; 9.

Eyes of a Stranger; 10. Catch That Ride; 11. Pops is Comin' Up

Publicist: Doug Deutsch Publicity Services

Review: Americana music is one of the fastest growing genres today, and that's due in no small part to the amazing music being generated by artists like Jangling Sparrows. Their music is upbeat and fun, with great songwriting and lyrics, and plenty of that good old down home musical sound of guitars, fiddle, steel and soaring vocals that truly capture the Americana sound. Paul Edelman has outdone himself with his lead vocals, coupled with amazing harmonies. You can also hear the zydeco influence throughout the album. We think this is one of the best Americana bands we have heard this year, and would love to see their live performance. Our favorite tracks include "The Party Ain't Over," "Burnin' a Hole," "One Good Piece of Advice," "Great American Limbo," and "Cheaper Down the Road."

Recommendation: This one is a no-brainer. You NEED this one in your musical library, so run out and Get it. Now.

<http://nodepression.com/album-review/jangling-sparrows-bring-new-life-americana-genre>