

Jangling Sparrows (from the album 140 Nickels)

Entering with hands clapping, Jangling Sparrows kick off 140 Nickels with the promise “Party Ain’t Over” on their recent release. Songwriter and vocalist, Paul Edelman, guides 140 Nickels on a raucous romp through Roots music as Jangling Sparrows wander through “Great American Limbo”, search for closure with “Take Home Your Coat”, dream of big-city life with the scratchy strums of “Catch That Ride”, and relive childhood memories in “Burnin’ a Hole”. Front porch Folk and Barndance Roots back the stories of 140 Nickels as Jangling Sparrows take a decisive step into “Ain’t Waiting for the Paint to Dry”, try to find reason in “Eyes of a Stranger”, and back up the car to find more affordable good times with “Cheaper Down the Road”.

Listen and buy the music of Jangling Sparrows from his website

<https://janglingsparrows.com/product/140-nickels/>

<http://www.thealternateroot.com/ontheradar010818.html>