Paul Edelman, multi-talented artist and front man of Jangling Sparrows has released a new single Bring a Little Christmas Spark just in time for the holiday, and when the world seems to need it most.

While still touring and promoting 140 Nickels, Edelman's fourth release and the second with Jangling Sparrows, an album that comes with exciting new influences. While staying firmly grounded in Roots Rock/Americana there are some distinct flirtations with second-line feels on several tracks. From the songwriter that says, "Style is just another tool for expression." Edelman still wears his songwriter badge on his sleeve with poignant lyrics and emotional delivery.

In Review: Bring a Little Christmas Spark is a feel-good holiday classic to be, it has a definitive "do the best you can" feel while saying that what matters is being together. The folk/rock-oriented sound just taps your feet to the beat and has that American Rock & Roll sound that comes out in holiday music. It has a very upbeat sound and captures the meaning of the Holiday.
